Finds Body of August Niemi Missing Nearly A Year

After being missing for nearly a year, during which time every effort has been made to locate him, Clarence Lewis stumbled upon the body of August Niemi about 2:30 in the afternoon Wednesday.

August Niemi a Finlander about 27 years of age, worked at the Wrangell Shingle Mill for some 10 or 15 days last summer, the last day he worked being the 14th day of June 1913, and he disappeared the next day and as he never called for his wages or clothing some concern was felt about him which was carried out to the fullest extent both by Mr. Smith of the shingle company and the local authorities but of no avail until he was found on the top of the mountain above the water dam by Mr. Lewis, who immediately returned to the city and reported his gruesome find. Judge Thomas this morning empaneled a coroners jury, and Judge Thomas, Marshal Grant and the Jury with Mr. Lewis as guide proceeded to the place where the body was found where an Inquest was held. Dr. Shurick thoroughly examined the remains and found letters and other things which identify the remains as that of the missing man.

The remains was found on the very top of the ridge above the dam, in a small excavation that nature seemingly had made for the act, he had fassened a rope around a limb of a tree and then around his neck after which he had stepped to his death from a fallen tree to hang until the head was severed from the body and both fell into the pit. Marshal Grant had the remains removed for the inquest after which it was wrapped up in a large canvas and buried in the pit and the tree blazed and his name and date placed thereon.

August Niemi has two brothers in Wisconsin and a mother in Suonenijaki, Finland.

EDITORIAL

It is easy to be an editor, the Normal Bulletin says. To run a newspaper successfully a man has merely to write poems, discuss the tariff and money questions, umpire a base ball game, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make $1 do the work of $10, shine at a dance, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whiskey, subscribe to charity, go without meals attack free silver, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, sneer at snobbery, overlook scandal, appraise babies, delight pumpkin raisers, minister to the afflicted, lead the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mould public opinion, sweep out the office, speak at prayer meeting and stand in with everybody. And in addition to the above essentials the poor editor has to print a paper once a week.—Ex.

"Insane patients should be cared for in Alaska. There is absolutely nothing to the argument that climatic conditions here are injurious. On the other hand, those afflicted with mental diseases dread being sent among strangers. I have talked with many of them and am convinced that the dread as expressed by them was positively injurious to their state of mind."—Statement by Dr. H. C. De Vignue.—Dispatch.

Lot Laid Help
"I have for a number of years been suffering from ... and have been unable to do any work. I have tried many remedies but have not found any relief. I have now tried your medicine and I feel that I am getting better. I am now able to do some work and I feel that I am getting my life back. I am very grateful to you for your medicine. I will pay for a box for ... Enclosed find $1.00."

FEROCIOUS DOLPHINS.

Marine Monsters That Are Known as Whale Killers.

There really is such a sea monster as the whale killer. It is one of the largest and most ferocious of all the dolphin family. It also is known as the grampus. It is characterized as a genus by its large size and the conical and depressed head, devoid of a beak. The back fin is of great length, especially in the males, and the flippers are large and broadly ovate.

The teeth are comparatively few in number, varying from ten to thirteen on each side of the jaw, and are much larger than in any dolphins yet noticed, being often an inch or more in diameter and having an oval section. The coloration is striking, the upper parts and fins being black, while the lower jaw, chest and under parts are whitish.

The white area of the under parts does not, however, extend to the flukes, but ends posteriorly in a trident, of which the lateral and shorter prongs extend obliquely upward on the flanks. There is a large white streak above and behind the eye, and frequently at least a purple crescentic area extends across the back behind the fin. The killer attains a length of at least twenty feet.—St. Louis Times.

First Steam Fire Engine.

The first steam fire engine was made in 1829 in London from the designs of Captain John Ericsson, the designer of the Monitor. The fire engine was a failure.

The Pygmy Hippopotamus.
One of the animals least known to the outside world is the pygmy hippopotamus of West Africa. It is just what its name implies, a pygmy hippopotamus. It is much smaller than the common hippopotamus, being no larger than an ordinary or fair sized hog. It differs somewhat from the common hippo in the character of its teeth, and instead of spending its time in the rivers and lakes in large herds it wanders about through the jungles singly or in pairs, much after the manner of swine in search of mast.

Fire Company Hold Meeting

The Wrangell Fire Department held their monthly meeting at the city hall last Monday night and a good attendance of firemen were present. The chief reported that the new ladder truck was already for business. The pay roll for the last five fires was distributed among the firemen. As the term was up for the fire chief and is customary to nominate one to be approved by the City Council an election was held, Oscar Carlson and J. E. Worden being the candidates. Oscar Carlson the Present Chief being reelected. It was also recommended that the Chief be paid a salary by the City. The view of an alarm system for the north end of the city was taken up and the Chief and Foremen were asked to take the matter up.

Carlson To Start Dray Line

Another industry will be added to Wrangell's ever growing variety next week in the shape of a dray and transfer co. Mr. Oscar Carlson expects a horse and wagon for the new line up on the Alki which sails from Seattle tonight. The new business is a much needed one and with Mr. Carlson at the head it is an assured success from the start.

Two Portland Boats In

During the week two of the steamers of the new Portland line have passed through on their way north.
The first, the J. B. Stetson arrived of the three leading Portland papers, Addison Bennett of the Oregonian, David Hazlet of the Evening Telegram, and Fred Lockely of the Oregon Journal.

All three of the men were given a good view of our town resources and we hope to see a good boost for our city in the coming Alaska articles they will publish in the near future.
The Quinault arrived Wednesday and left shortly after to catch the
